

Pediatric Grand Rounds

DEPARTMENT OF PEDIATRICS

Sponsored by: Office of Continuing Medical Education, Eastern Virginia Medical School

Target Audience: Pediatricians and interested healthcare professionals including medical residents and students

All conferences are held 8:00 – 9:00 AM in the Brickhouse Auditorium

---

April 1, 2010

Pediatric Business Meeting – Not for CME Credit

---

April 8, 2010

Surgery/Peds Grand Rounds

"Surgical Management of Necrotizing Enterocolitis"

Michael G. Caty, M.D., M.M.M.

Professor of Surgery and Pediatrics, State University of New York at Buffalo

John E. Fisher Professor of Pediatric Surgery, Surgeon-in-Chief

Women and Children's Hospital of Buffalo

Objectives:

Propose the surgical management of infants who develop NEC in the NICU.

Competencies:

Medical Knowledge and Patient Care

---

April 15, 2010

"The 10 Critical Principles of an Effective Evaluation System"

Franklin J. Medio, PhD

Consulting Services for the Health Professions, Charleston, SC

Objectives:

Apply the essential components of an effective evaluation system.

Competencies:

Communication Skills, Professionalism, and Systems-based Practice

---

April 22, 2010

12th Annual PEM Update and the 15th Annual Forest White Lecture

"25 Years of Pediatric Emergency Medicine: Where We've Been and Where We're Going"

Joseph L. Wright, MD, MPH

Professor of Pediatrics (Vice Chair), Emergency Medicine and Health Policy, George Washington University Schools of Medicine and Public Health

Objectives:

Define important events in the historical development of the subspecialty of Pediatric Emergency Medicine, identify the major programmatic accomplishments of the federal Emergency Medical Services for Children (EMSC) program, and evaluate the critical research and evidence-based developments that currently frame the future of EMSC in this country.

Competencies:

Medical Knowledge and Practice-based Learning

---

April 29, 2010

OB-Peds Grand Rounds

"Innate neonatal neurobehavioral competence: How infants are hard-wired to learn to feed"

Christina Smillie, MD

Founder, Director, and Clinical Consultant, Breastfeeding Resources

Stratford, Connecticut

Objectives:

Apply an understanding of the human infant's innate feeding behavior, the role of oxytocin in promoting infant survival, and the mother's intuitive right-brained processes to successfully manage the care of post-partum mothers.

Competencies:

Medical Knowledge, Patient Care, Communication Skills, and Practice-based learning

---

ACCREDITATION

Eastern Virginia Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION

Eastern Virginia Medical School designates this educational activity for a maximum of one (1.0) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.