16th Annual Insights into Autism: Autism's Next Hurdles and Horizons

Conference Overview

This activity aims to provide attendees with a better understanding of how the House Bill 1, often referenced as HB1, will affect people with disabilities and the challenges in obtaining an autism diagnosis. In addition, the speakers will provide insights into treating anxiety, nutritional problems and water safety for children with autism. Lastly, the speakers will provide expertise and updates on the genetics and molecular therapies for autism, as well as, how workplaces can provide better support for people with autism as they transition to adulthood.

Target Audience

This conference is designed for pediatricians, neurologists, psychologist, psychiatrists, nurses, occupational therapists, speech therapists, art therapists, special education teachers, social workers, other interested allied health professionals, and anyone who wishes to improve care to patients and families diagnosed with an Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD).
