December 5, 2019
Newborn Screening in Virginia: The Achilles heel(stick) of the General Pediatrician
Samantha Vergano, MD
Associate Professor of Pediatrics, EVMS
Division Director, Medical Genetics & Metabolism, CHKD

Objective: Identify the newborn screen (NBS) process in Virginia including ways to incorporate NBS results in patient care.
Competencies: Patient Care; Medical Knowledge

December 12, 2019
Advances in pediatric pancreatitis management: medical, endoscopic, surgical
Tom Lin, MD
Maisam Abu-El-Haija, MD
Jaimie Nathan, MD
Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Objective: Identify the diagnosis and management strategies for chronic pancreatitis. Describe the updates in genetic testing for chronic pancreatitis and the utility of ERCP and EUS in chronic pancreatitis. Determine the role of total pancreatectomy and islet autotransplantation in the management of chronic pancreatitis.
Competencies: Medical Knowledge; Patient Care

December 19, 2019
What’s Wrong With Tiny Tim…?
Erika T. Rhone, MD
Assistant Professor of Pediatrics, EVMS

Objectives: Diagnose the fictional character, Tiny Tim, from the 1843 novella, A Christmas Carol, by Charles Dickens. Analyze the life and times of 18th century London to decipher what illness Tiny Tim had and how it would be treated.
Competency: Medical Knowledge

December 26, 2019
NO GRAND ROUNDS – HOLIDAYS

ACCREDITATION
Eastern Virginia Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION
Eastern Virginia Medical School designates this live activity for a maximum of one (1.0) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.